Training Technologies for Experiential Learning Activities

Structured Experiences, Role Plays, Case Studies, Simulations, and Games at Pfeiffer & Company

The Experiential Learning Cycle: A Model

Experiencing
Publishing
Processing
Generalizing
Applying

Using Structured Experiences in Human Resources Development

A Background for Using Structured Experiences in Human Resource Development

The History of Structured Experiences
Structured Experiences: What They Are and What They Are Not

Evaluating and Selecting a Structured Experience

Primary Considerations
A Classification of Structured Experiences

Presenting Structured Experiences

Things To Do
Things To Avoid Doing
Avoiding Pitfalls
Learning Impact

Preventing and Dealing with Problems in Using Structured Experiences

Things To Watch For
Recourses for the Facilitator

Developing Structured Experiences

Primary Considerations
Elements of the Design
Examples of Designs
Conclusion

Structures and Activities for Structured Experiences

Case Studies
Communication Activities
Group Awareness
Group Task Activities
Guided Imagery
Role Plays
Simulations and Games
Use of Observers
Using Subgroups in Structured Experiences
Forming Subgroups
Working with Subgroups
Using Subgroups for Processing
Seating Arrangements
Conclusion: Examining the Use of Experience-Based Activities
A Glossary of Terms in Experiential Training

Using Role Plays in Human Resource Development
A Background for Using Role Plays in Human Resource Development
The History of Role Playing
What a Role-Play Is and What It Is Not A Rationale for Using Role Plays
Role-Play Objectives
The Advantages and Potential Disadvantages of Using Role Plays
Evaluating and Selecting Role Plays
Typical Problem Situations
Using Organization-Based Scenarios
Other Selection Considerations
Designing Role Plays
Design Considerations
Choice of Role-Play Problems
Dimensions of Role-Play Structure
Development of Role-Play Materials
The Classic Role Play: Maier’s “The New Truck Dilemma”
Conducting Role Plays
The Cycle of Change
Preparing for Role Playing
Introducing the Role Play
Directing the Action
Deroling
Feedback
Analysis and Closure
Role Playing in the Experiential Learning Cycle
Unstructured/Developmental Role Playing
Summary
Role-Play Techniques .................................................................112
Unstructured or Developmental Techniques
Structured Techniques
Summary

Using Case Studies, Simulations, and Games in Human Resource Development
A Background for Using Case Studies in Human Resource Development........................................122
Definition
The History of the Case-Study Method
What a Case Study Is What a Case Study Is Not A Rationale for Using Case Studies
The Purpose of Using Case Studies
Using Case Studies ........................................................................127
Selecting a Case Study
Preparation
Presenting a Case Study
Case Studies in Program Development
Sources of Cases
Developing Case Studies ................................................................136
To Write or To Buy
Research
Writing
Notes for the Facilitator
Revising
Getting the Release
A Background for Using Simulations in Human Resource Development........................................150
What a Simulation Is and What It Is Not A Rationale for Using Simulations
The History of Simulations
Developing Simulations ................................................................155
Understanding Aspects of Simulations
Stages in Developing a Simulation
Random Numbers, Stochastic Variables, and the Monte Carlo Method
The Decision Tree
The Difference Between Simulations and Games
A Background for Using Games in
Human Resource Development
What Simulation Games Are A Rationale for Using Games
The History of Simulation Games
Game Structures and Types of Games
Evaluating and Selecting Games
A Checklist for Evaluating Simulation Games
Staffing Considerations
Resources for Simulation Games
Facilitating Games
Prework
Introducing the Game
Conducting the Game
Discussion and Processing
An Example of Group Dynamics in Simulation Gaming
Using Simulations to Teach Strategic Planning
Considerations in Developing Simulation Games
Purpose and Use
The Simulation Model
Stylistic and Functional Issues
Constructing and Testing the Game: Time and Money
References and Bibliography
Using Structured Experiences
Using Role Plays
Using Case Studies, Simulations, and Games
Appendices
APPENDIX 1: Examples of Structured Experiences
Shades of Difference: Exploring MetaVerbal Communication
Parole Board: Exploring Individual and Group Values
APPENDIX 2: Sample Role Play
The New Truck Dilemma
APPENDIX 3: Guidelines for Giving and Receiving Feedback
Feedback in Training Groups
APPENDIX 4: An Article on Using Simulation Games ........................................ 239
Facilitating Simulation Games