

Cultural Anthropology

Study Guide, Final Exam, Fall, To be taken at the Java Joint, Monday, Dec. 11, at 8 a.m.

1. Here are four case studies. Choose ONE of them and then use the material on my page <http://home.snu.edu/~hculbert/case.htm> to do a thorough job of writing a reflection on the case study you choose:

<http://home.snu.edu/~hculbert/japan.htm>
<http://home.snu.edu/~hculbert/smallpox.htm>
<http://home.snu.edu/~hculbert/diwali.htm>
<http://home.snu.edu/~hculbert/buried.htm>

This reflection may be written ahead of time and attached to your final exam.

2. For the remainder of the exam you will be asked to make up your own questions. Those should cover what you believe are important points of textbook readings, the photocopied articles, videos, guest speakers, web site material for this course and any of my lectures. The PowerPoints are available for review at:
<http://home.snu.edu/~hculbert.fs/anthro.htm>

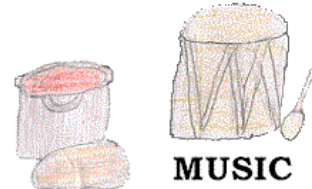

Make out the exam before you come to class, but you must take it in class. That is, you may bring your blank exam to class. Then, you will take it as though I had just handed it to you.

You may use essay questions, fill in the blank, matching, true/false or any other technique.

Your test will be graded on:

- a. The quality of the test construction
- b. Its balance of important material (Length has some bearing on this. Remember: this is a "final" exam for which you are allowed 2 hours.).
- c. How well you actually answer your own questions.

In preparing the test you may share ideas with a classmate. However, I want the final product to be your own. I do not want to see two identical tests!
